April 2013

For immediate release

SIP SANGIOVESE IN SIENA- SAVOUR BARBERA IN ALBA

Fiona-

Queensland-based wine professional and Master of Wine Peter Scudamore-Smith's Tuscan and Piedmontese wine and food tours take to the cities of Siena, Florence and Alba this September.

Scudamore-Smith says "This is my bespoke Italian wine and food experience for travellers after an Italian culture immersion. Here in Australia the regional Italian food theme now penetrates our eating habits, and the wine styles are imitated here; so now is participants' time to witness the real homes of all this flavour and beverage. Suffer the originality of Tuscan reds and the Alba white truffle."

Scudamore-Smith and his wife Denise Wiseman conduct this 11-day annual autumn tour which touches at the roots of our Italo-Australian diets. Every day is an authentic experience, designed carefully, shows balance as the tour progresses, and eventually reveals the classic food flavours; all stages of Italian "cucinas" are visited, every major grape varietal drunk with meals and the vital regions where these wines originate, visited.

Wiseman says "We are the creators of this tour, have visited and dissected our restaurants' food styles, captured the aspect of the hotel views by close inspection, and taken the ride with luxury small bus tour operators to the destinations. One lunch-time restaurant which our guests really favour, is down a dirt track in the Chianti Classico region."

Uncorked and Cultivated take guests to luxurious old-world hotels with sweeping views, and all centrally located in the visited cities, giving quality experiences within short walking distance for guests during free time. They wish all to have time to explore and discover the history, architecture and traditions of these regions when winery and restaurant visits are not programmed."
